The cylinder head is a casting of high strength steel, and the cylinder block is fabricated using a conventional powder metallurgy technique. The cylinder head is equipped with gas inlet passages, which connect the engine cylinders with an air inlet manifold. An example of a typical air inlet manifold is disclosed in U.S. Pat. No. 4,905,379. A typical air inlet manifold includes manifold wall sections which are fixed with fasteners to the cylinder head. An example of a manifold fastener is disclosed in U.S. Pat. accordance with one aspect of the present invention, a cylinder head for an internal combustion engine includes a cylinder head casting having a base portion and a cylindrical wall extending upwardly from the base portion. The cylindrical wall defines a cylinder bore opening upwardly from the base portion to the top of the cylindrical wall. The cylinder head casting also includes a manifold housing having an opening for receiving the top of the cylindrical wall. The manifold housing has a first and a second wall, where the first wall is engaged with a side of the cylindrical wall, and the second wall is engaged with an upper portion of the base portion. In accordance with another aspect of the present invention, the manifold housing is engaged with the base portion in a manner that eliminates the need to utilize fasteners to fix the manifold housing to the cylinder head. The above-described and other features and advantages of the present invention will be appreciated and understood by those skilled in the art from the following detailed description, drawings, and appended claims.Q: Is it possible to set a task to run before the current, so that the last task is always run first? I'm using generics in order to throw exceptions and return a generic type. My code looks like this: public static IEnumerable Find(List elements) { // implementation } The exception I want to catch is the type of the list:

InvalidOperationException How can I implement this? A: If you want to catch all enumerations, use the catch: catch (InvalidOperationException ex) { // whatever } If you want to catch a specific enumeration, use: catch (InvalidOperationException ex) { if (ex is MyTypeThatInspectsTheElements) { // whatever } } This is covered in the documentation. But personally, I'd just change my Find() method signature to use IEnumerable instead of IEnumerable. Q: How to best return "After" value I have this method which retrieves a list of people, whose IDs I have, and returns a list containing the ID of said people as well as other details about them, such as their age. My problem is that I want to combine the first call with the `PersonDao.getPersons()` method so I don't end up calling two methods. The problem is I don't know how I should get the "After" data. A
