The European Union and the Schengen Area citizens may work in another European Union country in the same sector as their permanent residence for which they have a job offer. Working in the same sector as the EU citizenship is only possible if you are a European Union citizen with a job offer. Before moving, make sure to inform the competent authorities of the country you are going to work in. Only after receiving an authorization from the competent authorities of the country you are going to work in, you can start the application process. The procedure is very simple: The application period starts on the day you move to the country you are going to work in. The authorities start the procedure as soon as they have received all required documents and the authorization from the competent authorities of the country where you are going to work. The procedure for applying for the right to work in another country as a European Union citizen: Immigration authorities may request additional information related to the application to work in the country, and they may request the original or certified copies of certain documents. In the case of a request for an official translation, the EU citizenship card is the document most often requested. WHAT TO DO. Apply in the country you are going to work in. The authorities will help you with the application. Make sure to follow the instructions they give you carefully. In any case, make sure that the following documents are available: In general, you will need to fill in: Application for right to work in the country you are going to work in. Original or certified copies of (1) your passport, (2) Schengen Agreement. . Credit card of the country where you are going to work in. . Certification of your job offer. . Proof of travel: if you are traveling to the country where you are going to work to apply, show the information of your flight booking.
